

HOLI Festival

On Thursday 25th March we celebrated Holi, a religious spring festival celebrated by Hindus. This festival is celebrated with colour, water and the exchange of sweets. We had a fantastic day of art and music and finished the day of celebrations by throwing colour powder paint at each other - outside of course! This Hindu festival celebrates the coming of Spring and signifies the start of new hopes and relationships through bursts of colours everywhere - we thought this was very fitting as we all come back together after so long apart.
